MAIN ENGINE OIL CERTIFICATIONS

Engine oils can be made out of mineral and/or synthetic bases with additives. The important factor to look at when picking out an engine oil is to look at their certifications to ensure that they were manufactured according to international standards.

European Automotive Manufacturers' Association (ACEA)

ACEA specifies the minimum qualities necessary for vehicle lubricants. Passenger vehicles are divided into two categories: A/B for gasoline and diesel without particulate filters and C for vehicles with particulate filters.

WWW.ACEA.BE

AMERICAN PETROLEUM INSTITUTE (API)

American Petroleum Institute (API)

API specifications is made up of two letters. The first letter could either be S for gasoline or C for diesel. The second letter follows the alphabetical order corresponding specification.

WWW.API.ORG

INTERNATIONAL LUBRICANT SPECIFICATION ADVISORY COMMITTEE (ILSAC)

ILSAC is made up of the American Automobile Manufacturing Association and Japanese Automobile Manufacturing Association to come up with a set of specifications that complement the API standards for gasoline vehicles with minimum levels for fuel economy.
